*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 58 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 39 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendars and in conference at the end of the first session.

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 135 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 105 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendars and in conference at the end of the first session.

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 193 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 259 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendars and in conference at the end of the first session.

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 285 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 369 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendar and in conference at the end of the first session.

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 478 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 507 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendars and in conference at the end of the first session.

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 816 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 872 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendars and in conference at the end of the first session.

*These figures on measures reported included all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. A total of 826 reports has been filed in the Senate; a total of 900 has been filed in the House.

This figure does not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." Reported measures not acted on include measures reported during first session.

Committee Meetings

COMMITTEE BUSINESS

Committee on Finance: Committee, in executive session, ordered favorably reported the following bills:

(1) H.R. 7885, relating to the income tax treatment of non-refundable capital contributions to Federal National Mortgage Association, with the following amendments:

(a) providing that taxpayers in the cement industry may for past, open years elect for percentage depletion purposes to have the kiln-feed cutoff point apply for purposes of computing the allowable depletion (this is the same as was provided prospectively in the Gore amendment to the Public Debt and Tax Rate Extension Act of 1960);

(b) adopting the text of H.R. 12857 relating to the base of the manufacturer's excise tax on mechanical cigarette lighters. Under the amendment the tax is to be 10 percent of the manufacturer's price or 10 cents per lighter, whichever is less. (This is in lieu of the present tax of 10 percent of the manufacturer's price);

(c) restoring dependency exemptions for nationals of American Samoa and Swains Island (primarily children of U.S. naval personnel, numbering around 100);

(d) (1) permitting, for 1960 and future years, a partnership which has elected to be taxed as a corporation to apply the tax-free reorganization provisions if it actually becomes a corporation; and (2) requiring that the election to be taxed as a corporation be made in the last month of the preceding year or the first month of the current year for which it is to be so taxed;

(e) relating to the declaration of estimated income tax by individuals which (1) increases the "other income" limit from $100 to $200; and (2) provides that no declaration need be filed where the estimated tax is less than $40. Also, the gross income test of $400 plus $600 times the number of exemptions is eliminated;

(f) requiring individuals living abroad and other taxpayers (including corporations) claiming the benefits of foreign income provisions to file their returns at the office designated by the Secretary rather than in the district where they claim legal residence or place of business;

(g) providing that claiming a false or fraudulent deduction for a dependent may be prosecuted as a misdemeanor rather than a felony. This also repeals section 7207, relating to the treatment of fraudulent returns, statements, or other documents as misdemeanors (leaving only the felony provisions applicable); and

(h) the text of section 9 of H.R. 5547 (as previously reported by the Finance Committee) prohibiting the doubling up of the deduction of taxes for those on an accrual basis where States have changed the assessment or lien date.

(2) H.R. 12536, which excludes certain local advertising charges from the sale price, within limits, for purposes of the manufacturer's excise taxes (without amendment).

(4) H.R. 4384, to provide for the free importation of certain articles for religious purposes not now included in paragraph 1774 of the Tariff Act (without amendment).

*These figures on measures reported include all placed on calendar or acted on by Senate even if there was no accompanying report. In the Senate 1,016 reports were filed during the first session and 932 in the second session; while the House filed 1,192 in the first session and 1,045 in the second session.

These figures do not agree with the total difference between bills reported and bills passed, because resolutions and bills placed on the House Calendar without having been formally reported were not included in figures of measures reported to the House; the difference in the case of Senate figures is due to uncounted bills "laid on the table" or "indefinitely postponed." These data include bills on calendar and in conference at the end of the first session.

Subsequent to sine die adjournment 15 House and 2 Senate special reports were filed and are included in above figures.

INDEX

This index is keyed to the DIGEST as published with the DAILY CONGRESSIONAL RECORD; the page references below are listed accordingly, as D5, D6, etc.

The bill numbers of proposed legislation are affixed to the subject references so that the subject matter of each measure will be readily available. The breakdown under each subject divides the action on the proposals according to: Communications from the President, hearings or actions by House or Senate committee or joint or conference committee, consideration or action by House or Senate Chamber on the measures, and the public law number when the bill or resolution has been enacted.

The use of an index so devised serves a twofold purpose: Gives all references to such legislation in the DIGEST as well as accounts for the status and history of each bill or resolution.
